Increased participation in the workforce for people with disability and their families and carers produces benefits for the individuals participating, as well as for the wider Australian economy. The analysis presented here investigates the employment experience of NDIS participants and their families and carers, including factors associated with positive employment outcomes.

The latest report investigates participant employment outcomes as at 31 December 2022, including both baseline (at Scheme entry) and longitudinal (change over time) results.

We have previously published reports covering employment outcomes for both participants and their families and carers as at 30 June 2018 and 31 December 2020.

Employment outcomes for NDIS participants

Download the reports:

- Employment outcomes for NDIS participants as at 31 December 2022 – full report (11.2 MB PDF)
- Employment outcomes for NDIS participants as at 31 December 2022 – summary report (2.3 MB PDF)

Employment outcomes for families and carers of NDIS participants

Download the reports:

- Employment outcomes for families and carers of NDIS participants as at 31 December 2022 – full report (6.8 MB PDF)
- Employment outcomes for families and carers of NDIS participants as at 31 December 2022 – summary report (1.2 MB PDF)

Previous reports

- Employment outcomes for NDIS participants as at 31 December 2020 – full report (PDF 1.9MB)
- Employment outcomes for NDIS participants as at 31 December 2020 – summary report (PDF 1 MB)
- Employment outcomes for families and carers of NDIS participants as at 31 December 2020 – full report (PDF 2.3MB)
- Employment outcomes for families and carers of NDIS participants as at 31 December 2020 – summary report (PDF 1.2MB)

- Employment outcomes 30 June 2018 (PDF 2MB)
- Employment outcomes 30 June 2018 - transcript (DOCX 80KB)

Note: the information on these pages is subject to a Data disclaimer.