The data provided in the Public Data Sharing platform (NDIS Public Data), including any numerical data, interactive visualisations, synthesised reports, data cubes and metadata, are provided solely for the purpose of enabling public insight into the operation of the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) and enabling people with a disability to become informed consumers.

The purpose of providing NDIS Public Data is to improve participant outcomes and increase market innovation.

NDIS Public Data should not be regarded as representative of any forecasts of the NDIS' actual performance.

Users must exercise their own skill and care with respect to the use of the NDIS Public Data and that users should carefully evaluate the completeness and relevance of the data on the website for their purposes.

The NDIS Public Data may have been modified or otherwise altered in order to protect the privacy of the participants in accordance with requirements under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and the National Disability Insurance Scheme Act 2013 (Cth). Please refer to the National Disability Insurance Agency's Privacy Policy for more information .

The National Disability Insurance Agency does not guarantee, and accepts no legal liability whatsoever arising from, or connected to, the use or representation of any data accessed from this website or its subsequent use or representation on any third party website.

NDIS Public Data seeks to inform of potential gaps in the disability market but the data alone does not substitute for comprehensive market research.