Payments data downloads

The NDIA is committed to releasing downloadable data that improves the understanding of the NDIS.

We have reviewed our methodology and approach for publishing payments datasets and made changes to improve consistency.

Changes include a single payments table, replacing the previous three tables, and clearer metrics reporting total amount paid over the past 12 months and the unique number of participants, rather than average payments.

We also continue to break down data by demographics, including age, disability, and State/Territory.

The revised payment datasets for the last 7 quarters are now available.

The accompanying data rules for this dataset explains information about the data that may be helpful.
